

XM Radio provides resources and entertainment that have been stripped from conventional radio during the past 40 years. In the spirit originally intended by the FCC, the broadcasts are commercial-free, with close attention being given to the needs of listeners. Now that conventional airwaves have been co-opted by private interests, satellite radio is a hope we maintain for unfettered expression and creativity. Please do not place controls on XM's programming.